“Russ and his team provided us with security for a special event and for an extended period as well. I could not have felt safer than when I knew RGW was behind me....”

There has never been a time when personal security and safety were so necessary. The media is out of control and even the slightest situation or impropriety can be blown out of proportion and into a major event or even embarrassment.

Not only that, with on-going scams and people of means or celebrity being the constant target of those scams, private personal security is just one more layer of protection that in many cases is a necessity.

RGW and their security experts have worked in all facets of security including top level government processes. They are top professionals in every aspect of security from armed, to un-armed, close protection, vip, chauffeur, group and one on one security procedures.

We are experienced in the use of all types and methods of weaponry as well as all forms of hand to hand combat, martial arts and defensive tactics. We have trained experts in evasive driving techniques and all phases of personal security.

When you decide that personal protection is necessary then give RGW Security Services the call.

Thank you.
